

NEWS FROM BEHIND THE PUPPET STAGE

June 2012

Greetings!

It is time to hit the road again. We have run through all our material to make sure we have everything, all the printed materials have been sent out, and after many, many hours of work, it is time to leave. I am truly looking forward to traveling and sharing the Gospel this summer.

I was informed about three weeks ago that the house I was living in is no longer available and that I needed to be out in a month. It was a big shock as I was hoping to be able to stay in the house until next summer at least. As I was dealing with trying to understand why the Lord has allowed this to happen, I was reminded over Memorial weekend, while doing programs, that the Lord has everything taken care of and not to worry. Psalm 23:1 "The Lord is my shepherd; I shall NOT want." I need to have patience, wait on the Lord to provide, and keep my focus on serving Him and not WORRY about the rest. God has always provided in unbelievable ways and I'm looking forward to seeing how He will take care of me in this situation. Funny how you plan to go and minister to others and God uses the exact same material to help and encourage you!

Due to my support level, I am still only able to receive part-time pay. Which also plays into why I have such a hard time with housing, the funds aren't there to rent. I am at 40% of my full-time need-- a percentage that has gone up since my last newsletter.

Please visit the website: www.ghhinc.org to view my summer schedule. I would love to have you come out, see a program, and visit!

Thank you for your support whether it is financially, by prayer, or both!
